THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

1. Because of the great losses of members and leaders suffered by the Serb Democratic Party, both during World War II and under the Tito regime, the party is at present unable to take little action of a concrete nature. At present a large number of party leaders, among them Drago Joksimovic, who defended Draza Mihailovic during the latter's trial, are confined in UDB prisons. Milan Grol is in a constant state of virtual arrest, and living conditions for other party members are harsh. Many attempts have been made to release members of the party from prison, but to no avail.
2. Reportedly, the Serb Democratic Party is collecting forces and issuing instructions for work against the Tito regime and for organizational work within the party itself. The party is at present willing to give out information only if it will aid in liberating Yugoslavia from the Tito regime.
